

1.4%

of automotive service technicians and mechanics are women.

Statistic from the Labor Force Statistics from the Current Population Survey, 2020.

North Carolina's automotive program stackup

39

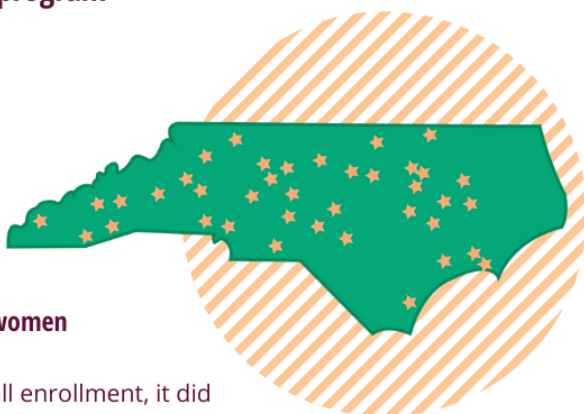

community colleges with automotive programs

4,483

total auto students in 2020

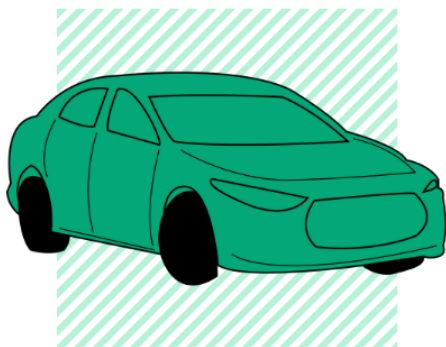

276

of those 2020 students were women

While 2020 saw a slight decline in overall enrollment, it did not appear to impact women's enrollment percentages.

From 2014 to 2020, the average enrollment of female students was

6.1%

in Automotive Systems Technology

6.0%

in Collision Repair and Refinishing Technology

2.9%

in Diesel and Heavy Equipment Technology

In Small Engine and Equipment Repair courses, it was 0%.

Improvement over time

Increase in female enrollment in North Carolina Automotive Systems Technology programs from 2014 to 2020.

Increase in female enrollment in North Carolina Collision Repair and Refinishing Technology programs from 2014 to 2020.